

SOUTH CANTERBURY
MUSIC FESTIVAL COMMITTEE

1947 FESTIVAL

September 22 to September 28

SOUVENIR
PROGRAMME

ONE SHILLING

FOREWORD

THE proposal to organise a Music Festival for South Canterbury was first discussed early in 1946 by the South Canterbury Council of Adult Education the members of which felt that much could be gained by co-ordinating the activities of the many musical bodies throughout the district in a combined community festival.

Accordingly, the South Canterbury Council of Adult Education under the chairmanship of the President, Mrs. F. A. Hilton, sponsored a public meeting called by His Worship the Mayor, Mr. A. E. S. Hanan, on 15th April, 1947. At this meeting a general committee of representatives of musical bodies and other organisations interested was set up to develop the proposal.

The Committee hopes that as a result of the first Music Festival a permanent body will be established to arrange similar festivals each year.

STORY

The scene is laid in a Sicilian village. Before the curtain rises. Turiddu sings a Siciliano. The action takes place before the Church. Santuzza and Lucia appear from opposite sides of the stage. Turiddu is the lover of Santuzza and she believes he has discarded her for Lola; she has seen him entering the young woman's house. The teamster Alfio, the husband of Lola appears with the chorus and also says that he has seen Turiddu but thinks his actions harmless. When Lucia, who has sent her son to Francoforte for wine inquires further into the matter, she is asked by Santuzza to be silent. After Alfio has departed Santuzza recites her wrongs. Turiddu loved Lola but after his service in the army found her married to Alfio. He then courted Santuzza and is now turning back to his former lover. The alarmed Lucia enters the church with the peasants. Santuzza awaits Turiddu who, however, treats her coldly and drives her to despair by leaving and entering the church after Lola. "You shall suffer in blood for this," Santuzza exclaims and discloses to Alfio the unfaithfulness of Lola. The teamster resolves to kill Turiddu and departs with Santuzza.

During the following orchestral music (The Intermezzo) the stage remains empty.

Turiddu, Lola and chorus emerge from Church; Turiddu sings a drinking song and when Alfio refuses to drink with him he strikes him. He is then challenged by Alfio to a duel with knives after the manner of the Sicilians. Promising to follow Alfio he takes a moving farewell of his mother pretending that he has been called to duty as a soldier and asks her to care for the unhappy Santuzza whom he has so deeply wronged.

After a short pause a woman rushes on the scene crying "Alfio has killed Turiddu" and Santuzza faints in the arms of Lucia.

NOTES

TEMUKA CHORAL SOCIETY

The Temuka Choral Society began in a very small way early in 1943 with a few members meeting in private houses for a musical evening. Since then the Society has steadily grown and has a membership at present of thirty. The Society has presented Christmas and Easter music as well as light numbers for their Annual Concerts. Last year, with the assistance of Timaru friends the Society was able to present the concert version of "Merrie England."

WAIMATE CHORAL SOCIETY

This Society is in its infancy. A meeting was called in October of last year to consider the formation of a Choral Group in Waimate and the support accorded the project was sufficiently heartening for the promoters to go ahead.

In December, 1946, a short Sunday evening programme was presented to the public and met with a most encouraging reception. The Choir then decided to establish itself as a Choral Society, and the inaugural concert was given on 9th June of this year.

TIMARU CHORAL SOCIETY (Inc.)

The Society was formed in 1944, and its membership, both of performers and subscribers, has increased steadily. Subscribers total 452, this figure including performers, who number 132. Included in the latter figure are the twenty members of the orchestra which was formed last year. A vigorous and capable Ladies' Auxiliary is a valuable adjunct to the Society, and up to the present the Auxiliary, apart from meeting certain expenses, has contributed £57/2/- towards the purchase of music.

The increasing number of youthful performers is a pleasing feature and promising youthful soloists are encouraged by the Committee.

"The Messiah" and "Merrie England" have both been presented, while at the other concerts a miscellaneous collection of part songs has been rendered.

FAIRLIE CHORAL SOCIETY

Conductor, Rev. K. Schollar. Accompanist, Miss M. Cooper.
Secretary, Mrs. M. Wright.

This Choral group is also in its infancy. Founded early in 1946 under the conductorship of Miss Lilian McDonald of Timaru, the Society met for practice at the back of the De Luxe Theatre. Although strong in sopranos this small Society of 18 members is handicapped through insufficient numbers in the tenor section. Now with a suitable hall in which to practice, an able pianist (Miss M. Cooper), and under the enthusiastic conductorship of Rev. K. Schollar, the Society is looking forward to a successful year of choral music.
